ABOUT ME:

I am an ambitious and dedicated junior full-stack developer with hands-on experience in building modern web and mobile applications. I specialize in TypeScript, React, Next.js, and NestJS. Through my work as a freelancer and part-time backend developer, I have delivered several projects where I focus on writing clean code, building solid APIs, and creating responsive, intuitive user interfaces.

I am highly motivated to learn and grow professionally. I especially value the opportunity to work in a team of experienced developers from whom I can gain knowledge and further develop my skills in practice. At the same time, I am capable of working independently and adapt quickly to new environments and technologies.
